

Machine Learning Basics

Machine learning is a subset of artificial intelligence that enables systems to learn and improve from experience without being explicitly programmed.

Core Concepts:

Supervised Learning trains models on labeled data.

Unsupervised Learning finds hidden patterns in unlabeled data.

Neural Networks are layered computing systems inspired by the brain.

Deep Learning uses multi-layer neural networks to solve complex tasks.